Development

Mentorship Certification Program

Goal: The goal of the mentorship program is to have a one-on-one experience with me tailored to fit you as an individual. You will learn how to be more connected to the innate abilities and gifts that you possess and be more attuned with the universe that is within you to the universe that is all around.

Whether it's to learn more about yourself, become more aware of the other realms that exist or if it's to create a career for yourself. After 3 months you will be able to walk away with transformation and growth that can lead to an increase in psychic abilities and may also lead to becoming a medium, a clearer channel and an energy intuitive healer. Regardless of your personal goal the idea is to learn to follow your higher self, your guides and lead a more empowering life.

Breakthrough blocks to raise your vibration: We all have blocks that keep us from being truly connected within ourselves and our gifts. Society has done a great job at making us feel like we don't belong or that what we do is wrong. That couldn't be further from the actual truth! We are unique and we are not alone. We will work together to break down these walls from old ways of thinking that could be from society's viewpoints, our own families and communities or perhaps even from ourselves. These blocks have been compounded through many lifetimes and it's time to remove them so that we can all feel welcomed in our own physical bodies and do our part, within our own lives and as a helper on Mother Earth.

Be more in alignment with your true self: The more you become connected and aligned with your higher self, the more authentic you are able to be. It helps you to walk through life with ease and strength. It becomes easier for you to distinguish between your truth and make decisions for yourself. When you start to trust yourself, your guides and accept that the universe is always working in your favor, the true miracles start to happen. The more doors that open up for you and the more you are able to be living in the present moment and not so focused on past hurts or anxiety of the future. Living authentically and unapologetically YOU is what I am here to help you do.

Additionally here are some other things that come along:

~Self care

- ~Quicker and easier decision making
- ~Gain confidence
- ~Self empowerment
- ~Trust yourself
- ~Remove blocks that are keeping you feeling stuck
- ~Create stronger boundaries
- ~Help the body to restore balance
- ~Heighten your intuition

You will contact higher realms: There are many different realms of energetic beings. The one we currently live on is dense and in 3D. The others are all around us only we cannot see them with our eyes. Once you start to distinguish between our world and the higher, or less dense realms, you will be able to connect with those that have passed on the other side, your personal guides and/or other beings that you wish to connect with.

Benefits:

As your teacher and guide you get the benefits of having the opportunity to learn things that I have learned from numerous degrees, diplomas, certificates, personal experiences and the things that have come up through doing this type of work with clients and others I have met along the way.

About The Teacher:

Jenifer Krause, B.Msc. Jenifer is a "medical medium," which means, through her connection with Spirit and her ability to read people's energy, she is able to retrieve information to help aid clients with their own healing. She can see and feel the root causes of energetic blockages created within someone's energy field that have an imbalance and are causing a disruption of the energy flow, prana, or chi, also known as the life force within us. These imbalances show up as physical problems, disease, unbalanced emotional and mental states. Most clients come to Jenifer when they have exhausted all modern forms of medicine and left frustrated, searching for something deeper.

Jenifer has studied many healing modalities from both the east and the west. While searching for balance in her life she had found it difficult to overcome trauma with traditional medicine and therapy and pursued far and wide in order to find the answers she was looking for. This journey of healing led her down many avenues for new knowledge and experience but most importantly, self discovery. She has spent a decade studying and practicing Ashtanga Yoga, has certificates and degrees in Photography, Massage Therapy, Hypnotherapy, Aromatherapy, Spiritual Coaching, is currently pursuing a Masters degree in Metaphysics and has authored 3 books.

Jenifer has developed "Energy Channeling Healing" which started as an online community of people looking for guidance in their own healing journeys, has mentored many people to become closer to their own spirit guides and through her workshops and readings has helped others to become connected with their own intuition enough to start their own businesses as coaches, healers, psychics and mediums. Many of Jenifers students and clients have been able to heal their own dis-ease and ailments that doctors have either said had no cure, or were unable to identify the source of. Jenifer helps people to heal their own soul's correction and that is something that modern medicine can't prescribe a pill for or diagnose.

Her background is the foundation for which she is able to connect and help others lead a happy and healthy balanced lifestyle.

What to Expect:

Expect the unexpected , come with an open mind and open heart.

The Fine Print:

During times of growth and expansion, there are times when we need extra rest or time for integration. Allow for that. There are times when we make changes and shifts that affect our relationships to things in our environment. When that happens no one else is responsible for that except ourselves. With entering into this experience and entering into an energetic exchange of services for a monetary value with Jenifer, you are acknowledging and accepting these possible changes that may occur in your life, and releasing liability on any outside source, including Jenifer, the teacher, and Primal Practice as a whole.

Communication:with the open access to communication with Jenifer, it is important to know and understand that although you are able to contact her, that there may be times that she is unavailable, and will get back to you during appropriate times and days that she is able to. Know that all things have a time and space to be addressed and world through and sometimes it's quick, and sometimes it is slow. It is important to put faith and trust into the universe and the divine timing of all things.

We will have homework, some online engagement, self paced online courses along with other things that are a part of the mentorship and certification. We do understand that things arise and that some dates and times may not work in your favor and we will do our best to accommodate the things that come up, within reason. We can offer other dates and times or recommendations, however, no refunds will be provided in any case.
